All went well - Michael Weiss, their lead, and I continue to be on the same wavelength.

They will hold a larger meeting with us and other agencies (Navy, Coast Guard) in a week or so. I invited them to join us here when we preview the DiscoverText system for our Review team, and we can jointly develop sorting categories for the marine monuments so they get what they need from our comments.

Additionally, FWS will work directly with their staff to the extent they want information on the refuges within the marine monuments in addition to what we are already collecting, Insular and Hawaiian Affairs will work with them on those two aspects of the review, and Ann Navaro will work with the General Counsel attorney on legal issues.

All will keep me generally informed of developments, but I'm not asking for specifics unless there are unforeseen issues. I will get copies of any additional information provided so we can see if we want to include it in our material.
